Your Wish is My Command – Expanding the Power of Your Personal Genie

By Will Craig

Your Wish is My Command – Expanding the Power of Your Personal Genie by Will Craig

The Genie we all have inside us is awaiting our instructions and ready to grant our every wish. Of course, if it were this easy we would all live in castles and zip around on magic carpets. If you're not where you want to be in life, what commands are you giving your Genie?

Your Three Wishes

Want to change your life? Here's the quick answer: pay closer attention to your thoughts and the instructions you give your Genie. If that sounds too simple, just grab your magic lamp and read on...

Sometimes we think what we say to ourselves doesn't matter, that these are just random or fleeting thoughts. The fact is, what you say to yourself (your Genie) really does matter and it will determine your fate for the day, this week... your entire life.

Where can you find this Genie? He is your subconscious mind. And here's the rub: we don't have an option as to whether or not we give him instructions. He pays attention to our every thought. Our only point of control is the type of instructions we provide.

If you're thinking, "Life sucks. This is really lousy," your Genie hears that. You may not think he is effected by this negative self-talk, but Genie takes it all in and attempts to give you what you have requested. He is very disciplined that way. The trouble is... he's not real good at deciphering moods, doubts, and fears. In fact, your Genie has no reasoning capabilities whatsoever. That is your domain. His only job is to obey your commands.

When you tell yourself "today is going to be a bad day because that's the way my 'luck' runs," your Genie hears that and says, "Okay... I have received your wish... here is your bad day!" Of course, you didn't mean for him to take that literally, and you may not have even realized you used up a wish when you had that thought.

I Hear You

Think about the last time you balled up a wad of paper and threw it across the room into the trash can. Bull's eye! It felt so good to make a shot of that distance with deadly accuracy that you decided to do it again. This time you give it some thought. That little nagging part of your brain you thought was asleep starts telling you, "That first shot was luck. You can't do that again." And sure enough, your next shot bounces off the rim onto the floor. You immediately spring up and grab the wad of paper, not dropping it in the trash, but taking it back to the spot from where you missed to try again. It's the Trash Can Game and we've all played it. It's also an excellent example of Genie executing the commands we provide him.

We must be very careful what we tell ourselves because our Genie-as wonderful as he is-cannot distinguish our real intent. Everything we say passes to him without going through any filters. We may tell ourselves, "This is stupid. I'm not going to try very hard to do my best because I'll probably fail anyway." Our intent may have been to give ourselves a cushion to fall back on just in case we didn't do as well as we hoped. The trouble with giving ourselves that 'out' is that Genie will do everything in his power to grant our request of failure. He is undermining our ultimate desire to be the best we can be. He doesn't mean to do this, of course, he is just following the orders we gave him.

Thinking is Creating

Everything you see in the space you are now in was once a thought in someone's mind. The chair you are sitting in; the car you drive; the television you watch. None of these would exist had they not originated in the mind of their creator. The thing to recognize is that we are all creators. We are the creators of our own destiny, the authors of our own story.

The story I created for my life, up until I was 36 years old, was that I wasn't very smart. I hated school and couldn't wait to finish my education at age 16. The two decades that followed found me comfortable with that story, if not somewhat unfulfilled. It took me twenty years to realize I had the power to change my life; to write a new chapter, to alter the direction of the story all together. Once I recognized this, I wrote chapters into my life I didn't even think were possible. I went on to complete my graduate work in Education and Human Development at a major university and created a new and fulfilling life for myself.

What's Your Story?

We all have this magical power. Sometimes we don't even know it, much less take responsibility for it. We tend to pay more attention to the events in our lives. When we react to something that has happened to us, we label it and then attach a story to it. Good, bad, exhilarating, depressing, rewarding or unfair, we make a note of it. We give these stories to our Genie for safe keeping. He stores them and will dutifully recover these accounts of events just as you have filed them. When we come upon a similar event in our life-sometimes years after Genie first filed the original story-he quickly provides us with the immediate reaction to take on our current dilemma based on this historical precedent.

At first glance, this sounds well and good. You have a living encyclopedia at your disposal along with your own "Genie librarian" to tell you the correct response in any given situation. The challenge associated with this repository of stored responses is that many times those responses are no longer valid. We may have matured and outgrown a conditioned response yet we continue to blurt out inappropriate behavior-no matter how self destructive-because we have programmed ourselves to do so.

Good News, Bad News

Our lives today are the culmination of every thought we've ever had. Once we embrace this concept-once we recognize we have created our world and take responsibility for it-we also realize we have the power to change our world by simply changing our thoughts. We can rewrite our story through new experiences and different responses to our new and improved lives.

Best selling author, Neale Donald Walsch, talks about our three levels of thought and creation, "That which you think of, but thereafter never speak of, creates at one level. That which you think and speak of creates at another level. That which you think, speak, and do becomes made manifest in your reality."

Walsch goes on to say that if our lives are going to 'take off' we must become very clear about what we want to be, do, and have. Get rid of all negative thoughts. Forget all fears and doubts. When we are very clear about what we want, think about it often and think about nothing else. Take ownership and begin speaking your thoughts as truths.

Choose Your Thoughts

Fellow coach and good friend, Christen Murphy says, "What we focus on grows. We become what we think about most, so choose your thoughts well." She also states, "As humans, we like to make sense of our surroundings. Positive or negative, either way, we get to be 'right' about our life."

The question is... What do you want to be right about?

Positive and negative emotions cannot occupy the mind at the same time. Genie always responds to your thoughts and unspoken requests with, "Your wish is my command." Feed your Genie positive, supportive and well-nourished thoughts and you will live a life of prosperity, abundance, and untold riches.

And just to be safe, it wouldn't hurt to always make your third and final wish a request for... three more wishes.

"Your Personal Magic Lamp"

By Sam K. Zohaib

"Your Personal Magic Lamp" by Sam K. Zohaib

Well, here we are in the big bad world of the Internet desperately trying to make our presence felt like the millions of others around the world WITHOUT any success.

But what is it that sets us normal people trying to cash in some money online, from the millionaires the Internet is producing (some 58 millionaires' everyday)!

These people know how to use a secret which I am going to reveal to you.

Why?

Why am I giving away my precious secret?

Because there is NO secret, it's open but hidden!

Confused?

Well read further and you will understand how 'things' work. First of all I want you to know that I'm telling you all this because I like letting people know what I know. In other words, I like letting them know how much they can achieve! I want to share the limitless possibilities that are lying around! I want to show the endless opportunities springing every minute!

Yes that IS true!

The internet moves 7 times faster than our normal physical world and for that reason you got to be 7 times faster yourself in what ever internet business you take up. You don't wait for opportunities to knock, you hunt for them!

What you are about to learn is very simple but without it you can't achieve your place on the Internet, it can change the way you think! To get successful on the Internet you don't just need hits or traffic. You need to program yourself to receive success on a continuous basis. I mean you just don't need to be successful just once but you must be successful everyday, in fact your success must grow every minute!

But it cannot happen just like that, you need to believe in some basic principles of success so that you automatically reap success every moment. So it's very important to mentally accept some strategies, which are very simple and open, yet hidden to the person who does not seek them. Read further and you will understand everything very clearly.

The universe is abundant and so you can achieve any amount of success, it's a proven fact. All you need is to believe and it shall be given to you. Well to not make it much longer, in simple words the amount of Internet Success you wish to achieve is up to you. No one can guarantee you that except you. What I mean by that is unless you are willing to succeed deep inside you cannot succeed whatsoever; you have to CHANGE it deep inside. For example ask a person if he would like to earn a million dollars, He would surely definitely answer, "YES", right? But deep inside he believes that he cannot earn such a huge sum of money. This is what his conscious mind tells him, so this is what he believes.

Now until and unless he changes that deep feeling inside him, he can never earn a million dollars. Simple as that.

You're personal magic lamp....

Would you believe me if I said that you are having your own magic lamp with a genie to grant you all your wishes?

Well actually you are, in fact everyone is.

BELIEVE me this is true, the genie is your mind and the lamp your head! All you need to do is give it a rub!

I'm not at all joking, your mind is the most powerful tool you have, it has the power to make things and break things. Think about it, without the human mind we would not be here where we are today.

For a better understanding of the human mind, it is divided into two parts. The outer mind or the conscious mind AND the inner mind or the unconscious mind.

Now there is a big a difference between the two parts.

The outer mind or the conscious mind is used by you in your regular life, to make decisions, to understand things around, to experience emotions and everything you do consciously. It has the power to reason or object.

But your inner mind or the unconscious mind springs into action when your outer mind goes to sleep that is at night. Anything that gets imprinted on the inner mind as the truth, it becomes a physical reality. As it does not have the power to reason or object, anything that is made to be real for the subconscious mind eventually becomes real!

You can use this powerful tool to get any amount of Internet Success you want! But for the mind to work for you and fulfill your desires it needs to be supported by your desire to achieve your goal, Your passion towards the fulfillment of your wish, To be a one hundred percent perseverant person and to always believe in yourself and have undivided faith in your work.
