Zambia, What An Amazing Country!

When you travel abroad, especially far away from home you want to have peace of mind. The same applies if you're on an African safari. If your desire is to meet friendly, warm people then travel to Africa's peace haven, Zambia. In Zambia you'll find that which you most desire, the warm African welcome.

Peace, stability and friendliness describe Zambia. It is a country incredibly endowed with natural resources, the heritage of a natural safari country. Just imagine these amazing sites:

1. The Victoria Falls, one of the world's most spectacular waterfalls, is considered the world's largest curtain of falling water. It measures 1701 metres wide and plunges down to 111 metres. The torrent of water plunging over a steep cliff creates a deafening roar and sends up billows of spray that can be seen 30km (19 mi) away. Thus the local people have called it Mosi-oa-Tunya, meaning the smoke that thunders.

2. The wild untamed Zambezi River. From its source at Kalene Hills to its mouth at the Indian Ocean the Zambezi measures a whopping 3,540 kilometres. And 2,572km is in Zambia.

Zambezi River passes through changing sceneries. The wild exciting Barote Flood Plain the site of the colourful Kuomboka ceremony by the Lozi people, the violent torrent at the Victoria Falls and the 122m deep Batoka Gorge cut by the river, the serene Lake Kariba behind the hydroelectric dam. And this lake has a great history. Finally the wide Lower Zambezi surrounded by wild game.

3. Add to your travel itinerary the Nchanga Open Pit one of the largest open cast mines in the world but the largest in Africa. Operations started in 1957 and today it measures 4,700m long, 2,400m wide and bottoms up at 335m. Zambia's major economic activity still remains copper mining.

4. Visit the 19 national parks and 34 game management areas. All these constitute 30 percent of the 752614sq km of Zambia. The management areas buffer the game parks and the parks are strategically located throughout the country.

5. The unbelievable yet fascinating wildlife in pristine wilderness. The Zambian national parks are considered to have the largest concentration of game in the world. The variety of animal species is wide with over 202 mammals that include the Big Five: lion, giraffe, leopard, rhino and elephant.

Annually there is a wildebeest migration in the Liuwa Park. Take a look and see the endemic red and black lechwe antelopes in the Kafue Fats at Lochinvar, as well as the Busanga and Bangweulu Plains. Birding is popular in all game parks but Lochinvar is Zambias prime birds sanctuary. Meet the crested cranes, saddle-bill storks, egrets, wood ibis, vultures and the rare shoebill stork.

6. Travel to Livingstone town near the majestic, awe-inspiring Victoria Falls now accepted as the southern African Adventure Centre. Here you can choose any adventure of your choice: White water river-rafting, bungi jumping, river boarding, skiing, fishing, abseiling, 4x4 off high way driving, elephant back safari, river safari, micro-light and helicopter flights over the Victoria Falls.

Livingstone is a town of three museums; one is Zambias prime museum, another is a railway museum and then there is the Victoria Falls field museum. Take a detour and visit a tribal village. Choose your accommodation from the many theme-designed hotels and lodges on the banks of the Zambezi.

7. The Zambian weather is mild and pleasant despite the country being in the tropics. The high altitude at between 1200m and 1500m above sea level ensures that. There are three distinct seasons; the cool and dry season between April and August, the dry and warm between September and November and the warmer and wet season between December and March. However, the most popular time to visit is during the cool and dry winter season between April and August. These are warm crisp days and cool nights!

Zambia is beckoning you! The pristine wilderness, the African sunsets, the changing landscapes and natural habitat and the warm Zambian welcome of its friendly people. All these make your travel to Zambia a pleasant destination in African travel. Its a safari visit youll treasure forever.

&And youll never forget to exclaim what indeed an amazing country

Zambia is a land of the legendary African walking safari and they did originate here. Zambia has earth's biggest waterfall, the wild Zambezi River, breath-taking lakes and wetlands, a profusion of birds, abundant wildlife, and raw, pulsating wilderness, .....all in one friendly country!

What constitutes Zambia's Safaris is its 19 national parks and private game reserves covering a total of 47,662 square kilometres. Most popular of these are South Luangwa, Mosi-oa-Tunya, Kafue, Lochinvar, Lower Zambezi, Kasanka, North Luangwa and Nsumbu. And so also are the best accommodation found there.

Zambia's natural parks are strategically positioned and cover every part of the country. The largest, Kafue National Park is centrally positioned but to the west of Lusaka, accessible by an all weather road. Then there is the unique dual of North and South Luangwa in the east. Others are in the north, in the west and in the south of Zambia.

Zambia's astonishing wildlife includes the graceful lechwe antelope filling the vast plains of Busanga and Bangweulu in their tens of thousands; the annual wildebeest migration of the Liuwa Plains which rivals the Serengeti. See the elephant, hippo, buffalo, giraffe, zebra, warthog, primates, antelope and various reptiles and rodents and are common sightings in the game reserves.

And there are large carnivores too! The common ones seen in the Zambian game parks are the cheetah, leopard, lion (the legendary king of the jungle), spotted hyena (wild' strongest teeth) and the wild dog. Smaller carnivores such as honey badger, African wildcat, mongoose jackal, etc., are common sights too.

Zambia, What An Amazing Country!

Zambia has three natural lakes. In the north are the Bangweulu, Mweru and the southern tip of Lake Tanganyika, the world's second deepest lake. Along the southern border is the exciting mighty Lake Kariba, one of the world's largest man-made lakes. It measures 280 kilometres long and 40 kilometres at its widest.

Of the 73 tribes of Zambia, 20 practise annual traditional ceremonies. These manifest customs, social life, rituals, oral history, material and spiritual culture. When these ceremonies are in session visitors are welcome to watch. Catch one and you will enjoy it.

Apart from its abundant wildlife, rivers, and lakes, Zambia holds 6% of the world's copper reserves and is the fourth largest copper producing nation in the world. Zambia is internationally recognised as a major producer of emeralds, aquamarines, amethyst and tourmalines. The qualities of the gems are highly competitive on the world markets.

Zambia's vegetation is savanna type with lots of trees varying in density. The climate makes Zambia suitable for a wide range of farming crops. All vegetables and fruits such as citrus, bananas, pineapples, mangoes, avocados, etc., grow. The weather is fine just about the whole year round; a bit sun shine now and a bit of rain another season.

While on holiday in Zambia you can choose to enjoy adventures of your choice. In Livingstone town, the Adventure Centre is a must visit.
